WEDNISDAY MORNING ..... MARCH 20 1876. WHAT are the specific charges against Mr. Kilbourn ?

Is IT NOT about time to abandon the idea that the Post Office Department should be self sustaining?

THE Kilbourn muddle is more muddled than ever. The House refuses to turn over the Great Recusant to the court, and he is in danger of having his liberty placed in jeopardy twice for the one act of contempt described by the law as a misdemeanor. If this is not persecution, what is it?

UNLESS some specific charges are alleged against Mr. Kilbourn, upon which to base the demand that has been made for the production of his books and papers, he cannot in reason be compelled to yield to that demand. It follows as a natural consequence that his present imprisonment is not sustained by any reasonable pretext, and that he naturally will have recourse against some one or somebody for false imprisonment.

THE witness business is not so good as it was. The contingent fund of the House is exhausted and the orders or certificates of the Lachrymose and other chairmen for witness fees have gone to protest. One poor unfortunate having traveled 3,568 miles and appeared before the committee was discharged yesterday, and being in here to Cheyenne-was compelled to sell Clymer's certificate at ten per cent. discount.

THE indications are that the Senate will oppose the wholesale demagogical reduction and cutting down policy of the House in regard to the appropriation bills. This is commendable. The cheap notoriety for sham economy gained by Mr. Randall and his Democratic colleagues of the Appropriation Committee will not be accepted by the people as evidence of statesmanship and the Senate will simply be doing its duty if it rejects and exposes their dema-

Some of our cotemporaries include the Hon. Fernando Wood among the prominent Democrats who "have been caught in flagrante delicto." Mr. Wood has been many years in Congress, and his name has never been connected with any job. He has been singularly free from the slightest taint of official wrong, excepting, of course, his politics-which are no better and no worse than those of his party. He has, during his long career in Congress, received and merited the reputation of an upright and intelligent legislator.

THE Democrats having given up all hope of making a President, it is to be hoped that the gag will be taken out of the mouths of Messrs. Hill and Tucker, and that those gentlemen will edify the country, not only with Constitutional dissertations, but by the delivery of the eulogy upon Jeff. Davis which Mr. Hill has so long had in store for a propitious occasion. Mr. Hill has made himself hosts of friends among the doughfaces of the North, and they are anxiously waiting another shower of wisdom from his lips. Let him keep them waiting no longer.

THE thirty two members of the House who voted vesterday to turn Mr. Kilbonen over to the courts for punishment are entitled to the credit of having carefully avoided the possibility of a conflict between the judicial and the legislative branches of the Government. As the matter now stands Mr. Kilbourn will probably sue out a writ of habeas corpus, and the conflict will be provoked simply because one House has set at defiance the requirements of a law which, to make it effective, not only required the sanction of both Houses but the approval of the Executive. All this because the Real Estate Pool Committee failed to find any respectable person to make a specific charge of fraud against Kilbourn upon which to base a legitimate demand for the exposure of his private books and papers. THE decisions of the Supreme Court in the Louisiana and Kentucky enforcement act cases, printed exclusively in Washington in these columns yesterday, will serve to recall to mind the efforts of the friends of good government to secure the passage of the Bill to Protect Electors, commonly known as the "Force Bill," in the last Congress. It was believed then that, as the court has now decided, the Enforcement Act was "insufficient" and that some of its provisions were "unauthorized," and one of the main reasons advanced in favor of the passage of the Bill to Protect Elect .. ors was the desire to amend the existing laws so as to secure the people of the South against the emergency which has happened. The result is that the lawless element of the Southern Democracy will be encouraged to renewed deeds of violence. At the same time the decisions will strike terror to the hearts of thousands of loyal voters in that section. The State authorities and State laws in the South are either incapable of protecting citizens against Ku Klux or White League oppression, or the General Government is powerless to interfere. A fearful responsibility for this condition of affairs rests somewhere, and the public will not be long in finding out where it is.

THE large excess of exports over imports which has recently marked our foreign trade shows no signs of abatement. The report for February, just issued by the chief of the Bureau of Statistics, shows that during the month the exports of domestic merchandise amounted to $50,324,999 in gold, and the re-exports, or exports of merchandise of foreign origin, to $1,093,675, making the total value of merchandise exports $51,418,674, The merchandise imports amounted to $37,756,497, the excess of exports over imports being $10,662,177, whereas for the same month of 1875 the imports exceeded the exports by $7,596,129 in gold. Of the precious metals our exports for February last were $4,558,771, and our imports $781,822; the excess of exports being $3,776,949, against $3,534,-538 in February, 1875.

IT SHOULD be remembered that the Real Estate Pool Committee declined even to charge that any of its members entertained a specific suspicion of fraud in Mr. Kilbourn's case. They, nevertheless, de-manded that he should produce his private books and papers. If he should vield to this demand, based as it is upon insufficient rumor, a precedent would be established whereby the books and papers of every citizen in the country would be liable to be made public at the malicious instance of any scallawag who might get hold of the scandal-loving ears of a committee chairman. It is to prevent the establishment of such a precedent as this that Mr. Kilbourn submits to persecution. and in so submitting he deservedly earns the sympathy of the community at large. Every private citizen, and especially every business man, in the country has an interest in this case.

JUST now the unrepentant rebel element in Mississippi, having received aid and comfort by the refusal of a Republican Senate to seat Governor Pinchback, are systematically setting themselves to work to convict Governor Ames, upon the articles of impeachment that have been presented against him, and thus make the way easy for them to persecute Republicans and remand their State to Democratic barbarity. Governor Amas deserves the thanks of loval men everywhere for the noble and persistent stand he has taken in opposition to the lawless combinations of his State. and Republicans there will lay the blame elsewhere than on his shoulders when Democratic misrule has borne all of its fruits. His pathway has not been one of roses, and at a period sufficiently remote for the prejudices of the present to be ignored, the faithful historian must accord to Adelbert Ames an unflinching purpose to protect his constituency from an appalling calamity, and save his State from the curses of Bourbon rule.

It is a remarkable "fact," says the veracious (") correspondent of the New York Tribune, "that the regular Republican or-' ganization of the District of Columbia has chosen as one of its delegates a gentleman who in 1872 was a delegate to the Cincinnati convention, and who has ever since that time been one of the most prominent Liberal Republicans of the District. His election is hardly less than insult to President Grant, with whom he " has not been on friendly terms for more be a success; but, considering the professional source from whence it comes, it is a weak failure. The "regular Republican organization" did not have control of the Lincoln hall mob, and no regularly-delegated power of the Republicans of the District has ratified the so-called elections made by it. Mr. Bowen has not been recognized as Republican for several years, and his selection to be a delegate to Cincinnati last Monday was an act that deserves and will in due time be repudiated, and receive the condemnation of the Republicans of the

THE LATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

The Supreme Court day before vesterday, through Chief Justice Waite, delivered its decision in the cases arising under the enforcement act of May 31, 1870. The substance of the decision is that as to elections, Congress cannot legislate generally on the regulation of elections in the States; that except in elections for Senators and Representatives, it can only legislate to prevent discrimination on account of race and color, and that any legislation beyond this limit is unconstitutional and void. Hence the court declares the third and fourth sections of the act void. The third section makes it indictable for inspectors of elections to refuse a person's vote on account of his not having complied with some pre-requisite of the law, such as registry. &c., when he presents his own affidavit that he offered to perform the required act, but was wrongfully prevented from doing so by the officer whose duty it was to receive or allow it. It is held that this section is void because it imposes punishment on every refusal of a vote for this cause, and not simply on a refusal on account of race or color: that, as the act stands, it imposes a new regulation in local elections, making the offer to do an act equivalent to the doing of it, when the State law has not made it such. It is held that Congress has no right thus to interfere with the qualifications of voting, except in the special case where they relate to discrimination on account of race and color. The fourth section makes it indictable to hinder or prevent any citizen from voting or from doing an act necessary to qualify him to vote. It is held that this section is void for the same reason. It does not confine itself to hindrances and preventions on account of race and color, but is simed at all interferences with the citizen's exercise of the right to vote. This is held to be the exclusive right of the State legislatures. and it is decided, after argument, that the court cannot hold an unconstitutional section void for some purposes and good for others, but that it must stand or fall upon its inherent soundness as a whole; hence these sections are to be held absolutely void. And, hence, the indictment against Reese and Forsher for refusing to receive the vote of a colored man in Louisville, Kentucky, who and not paid the requisite tax, but presented his affidavit that he had offered to pay it, was adjudged to be unsupported by any valid law. In the Grant parish case, which was an indictment under the sixth section of the act, making it criminal to band or conspire together to prevent or hinder any citizen from exercising or enjoying any right or privilege granted or secured to him by the Constitution or laws of the United States, the constitutionality of the act was not questioned; but the indictment was held bad because the rights and privileges which it was charged the defendants had conspired to interfere with and prevent the enjoyment of were not such as had been conferred by the Constitution or laws of the United States, but such as arose from State laws or usages. These were the right to peaceably assemble together for the purpose of discussing political questions, the right to bear arms, &c., all which rights were held to have originated prior to and independent of the Constitution and laws of the United States, and the only notice taken of them in the Constitu-

are disinclined to do so, and it seems that | tion is in the amendments, where the Government of the United States is prohibited from interfering with them; and there was no allegation that the interfarence charged was committed by reason of the race or color of the parties. One or two counts did charge this, but the rights said to be interfered with in those counts were so vaguely expressed that no judgment could be rendered upon them. Two counts charged a conspiracy to prevent a colored man from voting, but did not charge that the conspiracy was entered into on account of the race or color of the party. This was held to be a fatal defect.

The doctrine of the court, as announced in these cases, is that whilst Congress may legislate to protect rights granted by the Constitution they cannot do this to protect rights which had a different origin. The decision in the main confirms the decision of Justice Bradley in the court below. It is clear from this decision that Congress ought at once to supply the defects of the third and fourth sections of the act by confining them to the case of refusing, hindering or preventing a vote by reason of the race and color of the voter. It is also observable that the court does not deny the power of Congress to interpose by direct legislation against individual violations of the rights which the Constitution and amendments do grant or secure, but rather leave it to be implied that such legislation is valid and constitutional. The particular effect of the decision is that injuries to the colored race are not amenable to federal law, simply because they are colored; but only when they are committed against them by reason of their race or color for the purpose of depriving them of some fundamental right secured by the Constitution or amend ments.

Yesterday the Public Ledger, of Philadelphia, Mr. George W. Childs, editor and proprietor, entered upon the forty-first year of its existence, and came to us enlarged from thirty-two to thirty-six columns, and in other respects specially improved. The Public Ledger has attained eminent character, and is regarded as a most useful and valuable servant, not only to the community of Philadelphis, but to the country at large. The purity and correctness of its news and editorial columps are understood and appreciated, and the distinction Mr. Childs has achieved in journalism may very properly be classed as mor umental.

(From yesterday's Chronicle.)
Sayles J. Bowen, one of the most unmitigated political frauds in this District, and A. M. Green, commonly known as " Resolution Green," were yesterday selected by an unauthorized body, claiming to represent the Republican party of the District of Columbia, as delegates to the Cincinnati nominating convention. Neither of these persons represent anybody but themselves; both were strenuously opposed to the re-election of President Grant; both are political disorganizers of the worst stamp, and are so well known as "blatherskites" in this community that comment is "than four years." As an amateur per-almost unnecessary. These Siamese twins will probably be assigned scats upon the curbin Cincinnati adjacent to the hall in which the nominations are made-the prope place for gyratory political tramps. (From yesterday's Star. The mob proceedings at Lincoln hall yester-day, resulting in the "election" of Sayles J. Bowen and A. M. Green to represent this District in the Cincinnati convention, serve to re vive in the recollection the late municipal and eather-duster times, when "Murder bay" and Louse alley" dictated who should be elected to bleed the taxpagers and make laws for the District. The citizens have had a temporary relief from Murder-bay rule, but that element wants to resume its sway, and is clamoring for the restoration of the glorious right of suffrage. The proceedings yesterday show that with the restoration of suffrage would inevita-bly come the restoration of "Murder bay" and "Louse alley" supremacy. With all of the wide range of men of character and ability to select from as the Republican representatives to Cincinnati, Murder bay dictated the "election" of persons of the stamp of "Six-teat Bowen" and "Resolution Green." It is hardly necessary to state who these two men are and what they are. It is simply necessary to say that Murder bay went solid for them, but had not a vote for men of the stamp of Fred. Douglass. But, so far from thinking this re-sult a matter of regret, it strikes us as in the highest degree useful and salutary. It serves o demonstrate unmistakably and seasonah o a restoration of Murder bay rule.
